

AORTIC 2009
Pre- and Post-conference Tours

SELOUS SAFARI
Selous National Reserve
3 NIGHTS

DAY 1

On arrival at Siwandu Air Strip (Selous) you are transferred to Rufiji River Camp with a game drive en-route. This is the oldest of the camps in Selous, laid out along the river bank, with panoramic views of the sunset, river and a resident coterie of wildlife.

The name Selous derives from hunter-explorer Frederick Courtenay Selous, a naturalist and conservationist as well as a hunter. He was killed in the First World War in the Beho Beho region of the Reserve.

The Selous is a vast tract of untouched wilderness, inhabited only by wildlife and a few small-tented camps. Exploration by boat on Rufiji River and walking safaris with professional guides adds an extra dimension to game viewing, while enabling visitors to get a much closer feel for nature and the wilderness of Africa. A boat trip on the Rufiji river exposes one to tall Borassus palms that tower above the riverbanks, hippo and crocodile abound and the bird life provides a never-ending movement of colour.

Overnight on a full board basis at Rufiji River Camp

Enjoy a full day in the reserve, with a choice of game viewing in four-wheel-drive vehicles, guided walking safaris, or boat trips on the Rufiji River.

The Selous National reserve is bigger than Switzerland, and second only to the Serengeti in its concentration of wildlife. The Reserve, wild and untarnished, has a varied terrain of rolling savannah woodland, Miombo forestland, grassland plains, rocky outcrops, the Majestic Rufiji River and surrounding lakes.

Tanzania is home to one of the single largest remaining elephant populations in the world. Most of these elephants are found in the remote and wildly beautiful Selous Game Reserve, a World Heritage Site. Unique and teeming with multitude of big game, crocodile, hippo and wild dog.

Overnight on a full board basis at Rufiji River Camp.
