about aortic

The African Organisation for Research and Training in Cancer (AORTIC) is an Africa-based organisation with members throughout Africa and the international cancer community. Our objectives are to support, integrate, and facilitate evidence-based interventions and innovative programmes towards the prevention and control of cancer in Africa. Learn more here

The biennial AORTIC International Conference on Cancer in Africa is the definitive event on the African health calendar, enabling the exchange of ideas and the opportunity to learn from oncology leaders from all over Africa and around the world.

AORTIC's mission is to transform cancer control in Africa through collaboration in education, research, and the delivery of equitable and timely interventions to minimise the impact of cancer.

AORTIC hosts biennial international cancer conferences around Africa which are a platform for innovative and interactive education and training across the full cancer-care continuum. An AORTIC conference is a space to forge partnerships, to network, and to build capacity.

AORTIC supports Africa-based researchers in order to advance their research skills and development. We develop and support research to create new knowledge and drive innovation in cancer control.

AORTIC is developing the next generation of leaders in cancer care, research, education, and advocacy in Africa through our African Cancer Leadership Institute (ACLI).

AORTIC provides and facilitates cancer education and training for African cancer clinicians, researchers, advocates, survivors, policy makers, and students through the AORTIC Education and Research Webinar Series and our YouTube channel.

why support the AORTIC 2025 conference?

AORTIC's key mission is education, and our institutional and industry partners are critical to achieving this mission – AORTIC conference participants expect to learn from institutional and industry partners when they attend the conference.

Organising a session during the conference is a powerful vector of engagement and is an efficient and effective way to engage with the audience, identifying your organisation as a component of this continental and international community.

What does an AORTIC conference offer our institutional and industry partners? Simply – direct access to the AORTIC network of African scientific and medical leaders. Those who are leading the African cancer community, those who are key thought leaders in their region, and those who are actually building the policies and plans for cancer prevention and control in Africa.
